Things to see & do:

Malé-is the densely populated capital of the Maldives, an island nation in the Indian Ocean. It's known for its mosques and colorful buildings. The Islamic Centre (Masjid-al-Sultan Muhammad Thakurufaanu Al Auzam) features a mosque, a library and a distinctive gold dome. Near the harbor, a popular fish market offers the day's catch, and a produce market is stocked with local fruit.

Addu City-is a city in Maldives that consists of the inhabited islands of the southernmost atoll of the archipelago. Addu City is the second-largest urban area in Maldives, in terms of population, and is one of the two urban areas to get the status of "city" other than the capital city, Malé and Fuvamulah. Addu City has 6 districts. They are Hithadhoo, Maradhoo-Feydhoo, Maradhoo, Feydhoo, Hulhudhoo and Meedhoo. These divisions are naturally islands, but are well connected. Addu Atoll itself has islands in addition to the above, that are uninhabited.

Gan-is one of the inhabited islands of Haddhunmathi Atoll, administrative code Laamu and the proposed capital for the Mathi-Dhekunu Province of the Maldives. Gan is the longest island of the Maldives. It is divided in wards, the northernmost of which is called Thundi in middle Mathimaradhu and at the end Mukurimagu.

Hithadhoo-is a district of Addu City, in the Maldives. Hithadhoo is the main administrative district of Addu City, with many of the administrative buildings in this district. The town is situated on the island of the same name, the westernmost of Addu Atoll. In terms of population count, Hithadhoo is home to the largest population in Addu City. According to the 2014 Census, with 11,129 residents, Hithadhoo also has the largest population of any administrative island in Maldives, a category that excludes the much larger capital, Malé.

Manadhoo-is the capital of Noonu Atoll in the Maldives. Manadhoo is the most populous island and the largest natural island in Noonu Atoll. Geographically, Manadhoo is situated in the very center of the atoll equally reachable for rest of other inhabited island to the north and south west of the atoll. Island has become a hub for atoll ferry service and wholesale business hence respective citizens from other islands travel for medical and banking service while retailers accure their day to day supply at the same rates from capital city. so far, the history of Manadhoo has not been studied by any authority despite having a historic place known as " Naamagu vevu" a pond with ancient Arabic calligraphy and well bricked walls. Most of the basic infrastructures were grant aid from overseas organizations such as the recent upgrade on Harbour was granted by French Aid. other than that, the sewerage and sanitation systems were grant aid from UN. Manadhoo has the atoll school which was built with grant aid from Japanese government during 80s.

Dhidhdhoo Island-Serenity All Around. One of the largest Maldives island, Dhidhdhoo Island reeks of romance and love from every nook. With tranquil and peaceful vibes encircling in the atmosphere, this island is a great place to escape the crowds and enjoy solitude. One of the best island in Maldives for honeymoon, it is home to an extensive number of hotels and resorts that offer the perfect amalgamation of comfort and luxury to travelers. Sitting in the Upper North Province, this island also boasts about being home to numerous marvels of mother nature.

Utheemu Island-Historic Significance. Sitting on the northern region of the famous Haa Alif Atoll, Utheemu Island is that Maldives island that has historic significance latched to itself when one talks about this archipelago nation. This island was once a home to Sultan Mohamed Thakurufaanu who drove out the Portugese invaders in the late 16th century. Apart from being home to the glittering white beaches and the stunning blue waves of the Indian Ocean, this island also blankets numerous heritage sites like a timber-built palace named Utheemu Ganduvaru, and more. It is a safe island in Maldives for honeymoon during covid-Feydhoo Island-True Maldivian Life. A famous island in Maldives, Feydhoo is a destination that has an interesting tale behind its foundation and formation. It was around the time when the British invaded the Gan Island during WWII. The locals residing in the Gan island were shipped to live on the island next to it in the Seenu Atoll as Gan was converted into an airbase. Now, this island where the locals were dropped off came to be known as Feydhoo. In present time, one can witness the true and authentic Maldivian life living in tight-housing blocks and leafy streets. This experience makes Feydhoo one of the best islands in Maldives for honeymoon.

Maradhoo Island-Narrow Coast. Finding itself on the list of top islands in Maldives, Maradhoo Island is sitting right next to the Feydhoo Island on the Seenu Atoll. This island is thin and long that runs along the pristine Indian Ocean with narrow yet calm beach fronts and numerous beautiful groves of coconut palms. The best thing about this island is that locals are always humble and welcoming, making the experience comfortable. One of the best islands in Maldives for honeymoon, it is a perfect place to enjoy a laid-back time.

Thulusdhoo Island-Path Less Taken. The most beautiful island in Maldives, Thulusdhoo Island is that destination that reeks of Caribbean vibes and spirits. A perfect spot for those who seek paths less taken, Thulusdhoo Island is an island that is largely undiscovered with humongous coconut trunks sprouting from the sandy floors. The pristine beaches with seafood barbeque set upon it looks extremely appealing and magical.

Fuvahmulah Island-Sole One Standing. Fuvahmulah Island is the best island in Maldives for honeymoon by virtue of being the only island that occupies an atoll all of its own. This island does not have any neighbours which justifies the term peace and solitude to the mark. This island also has an inland lake which is a rare sight but still a sight to behold. The weather remains steamy throughout the year by virtue of its proximity to the equator which makes it one of the best islands in Maldives for honeymoon!

Hithadhoo Island-Break From Resort-Savvy Islands. One of the largest and most-populated, Hithadhoo is Maldives best island. With its southern floors being covered by mangroves, marshes, and shrubs, and the northern side being covered by an extensive number of cafes and bakeries serving scrumptious delicacies, this Island offers the best of both worlds to travelers. This Island reeks of charming and laid-back vibes where one can actually embrace lived-in aura, unlike other resort-savvy islands.

Bandos Island-A Circular Island. Bandos Island is one of the most famous islands in Maldives. It is located in the North Male Atoll. This charming private resort island is spread across 180,000 sqm. Enjoy the exclusivity of staying in the island resort and the chance to explore the island as you wish. The beautiful Bandos Island is surrounded by around 40 diving sites that are windows to the astonishing underwater world. Indulge in a plethora of activities including snorkeling, water skiing, windsurfing, parasailing, catamaran sailing, wakeboarding, and fishing. The luxury resort offers a variety of stay options including standard to water villa. It also features an 3 restaurants and 3 bars.

Dhigurah Island-A Lesser-Known Place. This is one of the lesser-known Maldives islands. Situated on the Alif Dhaal Atoll, Dhigurah Island is one of the sparsely populated islands of Maldives. This is one of those places that stand for disconnecting-with-the-outer-world experience. The waters surrounding Dhigurah is rich in marine life. A visit to this island gives you a rare and wild chance of going on a shark tour. This is a perfect getaway for the thrill seekers and divers. And if that's too much for you, then simply spend a relaxing vacation on the resort and its pristine white sand beaches.

Funadhoo Island-A Peaceful Island. Funadhoo Island geographically belongs to the Miladhunmadulu Atoll. Its name is derived from the name of a tree called 'Dhivehi' which is seen on the shores of some island. This is one of the largest inhabited islands of the Northern Maldives. This island is 3000 meters long and with its widest point being 585 meters. A highlight of this island is the lagoon that stretches between its land. This lagoon has developed into a mangrove region. The Southern region of the island, Gabaa Kulhi, is rich with wildlife. Another interesting side of the Funadhoo Island is its Northern region that features a lake – Goni, which used to be a freshwater before the 2004 Tsunami.

Meeru Island Resort & Spa-satisfies more people than any other hotel. With 286 rooms and suites, including 106 water villas, the Meeru Island Resort is one of the Maldives' largest 4-star All inclusive resorts, and it has more overwater rooms than any other resort in the Maldives. The island is always full and after people have visited here, very often they come back again and again. The island is attractive for all ages: families have their own corner of the island, and couples have their own, hence there are two separate swimming pools, two buffet restaurants, and 2 spas. As a top rated Maldives' family resort, Meeru not only offers a family plan for an affordable holiday, but also fun facilities for children and teens. Families with children are offered to settle around the authentic center, where they will have The Komos Kid's Club, Dhoni bar and a swimming pool (with children's pool and daily water polo), Kakuni bar, café and the main Farivalhu buffet restaurant capable of satisfying the tastes and appetites of many families.

Emerald Maldives is the perfect destination for your holiday in the Maldives, whether you are looking for adventure for whole family, exploring the underwater wonders, or simply relaxation, enjoying the modern facilities, in-house dining venues and comfort of your villa.

The Sun Siyam Iru Fushi-The Sun Siyam Iru Fushi, the flagship property in The Sun Siyam Resorts' collection, is located in the northern Noonu Atoll, and is accessible by a 40-minute seaplane ride from the Maldives main Malé Airport. Surrounded by seemingly untouched environs of the scenic Noonu atoll, this 221-room resort offers what is arguably the best local resort in the country, including 2 swimming pools, diving center PADI , and the awarded largest spa in the country. On the 21-hectare island you can enjoy water sports and there are interesting excursions for all ages, as well as diving school, and for couples there is a detached swimming pool "for adults only" and a romantic dinner at candlelit fine restaurants.

Amilla Maldives Resort & Residences-Featuring more flexible approach to tropical island luxury, Amilla Maldives offers a luxurious 'island home' for both couples and families in the Maldives. Known as The Island of Surprises - younger, hipper, with a fresh and contemporary accommodation, the resort has so much to offer, from high design and inventive dining options, to stylish villas and amazing snorkelling and diving. Located in the Baa atoll, UNESCO Biosphere reserve, this might just be the most family friendly resort in the Maldives.

Kandima Maldives-is a "new look" of the Maldives combining wild parties in the beach club, extensive dining options and even a chance to see the dolphin from the bathroom. It's about genuine hospitality with a human face and clever solutions that use the latest innovations, not to mention the playful spirit of a private island. Kandima was a late-comer to the Maldivian tourist market and is markedly different to the classic honeymooner resorts. It's aimed at sports-loving, party-going groups as well as couples and active families, and has a range of accommodation options, from affordable studios to luxury pool villas.
